

A PRESENTATION

On Tuesday evening last quite a large gathering of Methodist friends met at the parsonage to make a presentation to Miss G. Bryenton who is shortly leaving Bowden for Calgary.

The company assembled at eight p.m. A program of songs and games was gone through. Mrs. Davies, Miss Shenfield, Mr. Hunter and Mr. Sheldrick sang solos and the church orchestra played several charming excerpts. Refreshments were served about 10.30 p.m.

The Rev. F. E. Davies in an eloquent and felicitous speech made reference to Miss Bryenton's good work in the Sunday School and Church and presented her with an artistic illuminated address and a beautiful silver set of fruit and jam spoons. Miss Bryenton gratefully responded.

Mr. Shenfield and Mr. Hunter moved a vote of thanks to Rev. and Mrs. Davies for their kind entertainment. The singing of Auld Lang Syne brought a pleasant evening to a close.

LINOLEUMS

Our Spring Stock of Linoleums and Oilcloths have arrived and no housewife while buying her new spring house furnishings can afford to pass up our store. Our stock comprises over 15 different patterns and is the best in Innisfail.

We were fortunate in securing a reduction in buying the above lines and can now sell cheaper than the other fellows.

OLDS.

Mr. George Hutcheson returned to Calgary on Thursday.

Olds is all astir over the proposed Laurentian milk factory which is now an assured fact. Several meetings have been held in connection with the proposition and things were satisfactorily arranged today and the plant will in all probability be in operation the latter part of May. It is hard to estimate what this alone means to the people living in the Olds district but more it is proposed to build an inter-urban railway east and west from Olds making a complete circuit either to the north or south of the town.

The board of trade have taken R. E. proposition up with Mr. Drummond who is one of the chief promoters of the Company. When it comes right down to a hustling town, See Olds first.

Rev. F. E. Davies preached in the school house last Sunday on the subject of Church Union. The congregation listened with interest and appeared to be greatly in favor of Union.

SPLENDID WORK IN PARRY SOUND

QUICK CURE OF W. S. KETTYLE
BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Suffered for ten months, but was cured by a single box.—Splendid reputation of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Golden Valley, Parry Sound District, Ont. (Special).—W. S. Kettle, well-known in this district, has added his testimony to the great mass now coming forward to prove that Dodd's Kidney Pills cure kidney disease, no matter where it is found or in what form it is found.

"I suffered from backache, gravel and headache for ten months," Mr. Kettle states. "My sleep was broken and unrefreshing and the least exertion would make me perspire freely. After taking one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills I was completely cured. That was a year ago and I have had no return of my trouble since."

Dodd's Kidney Pills have done a great work in this district. Numerous people can be found who have been cured by them of almost every kidney disease, including rheumatism, lumbago, dropsy and Bright's disease. They are looked upon by all who use them as the one sure cure for kidney disease.

Men have found a mass of native copper weighing 420 tons, and they have discovered a chunk of pure silver weighing one and one-half tons, but the largest nugget of gold that has been seen weighed only 190 pounds. And gold seekers are informed that larger finds in the future are unlikely.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

IN THE HOUSE OF DOMITIAN

Interesting Discoveries in the Palace of a Roman Emperor

Prof. Boni's explorations of the house of Domitian, on the Palatine between the house of Augustus and that of Tiberius, are leading to interesting archaeological discoveries. So far the researches have been limited to the areas of the atrium, or roofed court, with its prolongation, or tablinum, and to the triclinium, or dining hall.

In the court a rectangular central piscina with remains of an octagonal basin inside of it has been discovered, while on the walls small niches and low marble pillars have been found, and these are evidently intended for small bronze statues and figures of birds and animals, which serve as ornaments to the fountain. All the marble facing of the piscina has disappeared and only the bricks which supported the marble slabs that covered the sides and bottom of the basin have been found.

The finds in the triclinium consist of a great portion of the pavement in small slabs of precious marbles laid over bricks placed upright so as to prevent dampness from damaging the marble, several large fragments of columns and broken pieces from the walls and ceiling. Evidently the building collapsed owing to an earthquake followed by a fire which completed its destruction. Perhaps some of the sculptures were saved from the ruin, but the building was left as it fell.

In time earth accumulated over it and the grass grew. Pope Paul III, between 1534 and 1550 laid out the Farnese Gardens over the site where the house of Domitian stood. Two hundred years later the first excavations took place and the archaeologist Blanchini discovered the walls of the court and dining-room covered with rare marbles, which he removed. He carried away sixteen Corinthian columns of Numidian marble of extraordinary size and excellent workmanship, colossal statues in marble and bronze and other works of art, some of which are in the museums of Naples and Parma.

Attacks of cholera and dysentery come quickly, there seldom being any warning of the visit. Remedial action must be taken just as quickly if the patient is to be spared great suffering and permanent injury to the lining membranes of the bowels. The readiest preparation for the purpose is Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. It can be got at small cost at any drug store or general dealer's, and it will afford relief before a doctor can be called.

A Bountiful Harvest

"As a man soweth, so shall he reap," and youth is the time in which he must do his sowing if the granary is not to be empty when old age overtakes him, as it surely will if he lives long enough. The making of money and the saving of money, as distinguished from the miserly love of money, should be the ambition of everyone; but it does not necessarily follow that if you make money you will have it in your old age, as many a one-time millionaire has died in the poor house. But if you take advantage of the Canadian Government Annuities system, and out of your wages, salary, or income pay the amount fixed to be paid each week, month or year, or as otherwise arranged, provision for old age may be made with absolute certainty and at much less cost than on any other safe plan. You may lose everything else you own but the Annuity cannot be lost or taken from you by any proper source of law, no matter how long you may live. Ask your postmaster for literature on this subject, or write for the same to the Superintendent of Annuities, Ottawa, to whom all letters may be addressed free of postage.

Spasms of Coughing

And Frantic Gasping for Breath
Common to Bronchitis and Asthma.

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

Both bronchitis and asthma are diseases of the nerves as well as of the bronchial tubes, and for this reason only slight irritation or excitement is required to bring on the terrible coughing spells and frantic gasping for breath.

There is nothing like Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine to bring relief to sufferers from bronchitis and asthma.

It soothes the irritated nerves, eases and prevents the attacks of coughing and enables the system to throw off the disease. In fact the great popularity of this medicine is largely due to its success in curing bronchitis and severe chest colds.

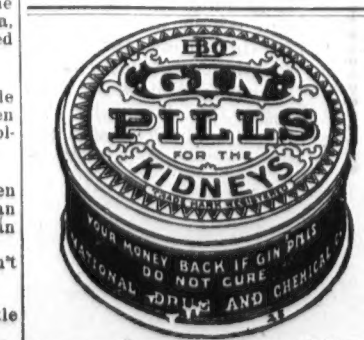

Since permanent recovery depends largely on getting the nervous system thoroughly restored, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is of the greatest assistance in revitalizing the wasted nerve cells. This combined treatment is ideal as a cure for bronchitis and asthma, for, while the Linseed and Turpentine brings relief to the organs of respiration, the Nerve Food restores the body to full health and strength, and enables it to fight off disease.

There are many imitations of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. The portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., are on every bottle of the genuine: 25c. a bottle, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Both Ways

The hotel visitor had taken his dinner elsewhere with a friend. When on coming to pay his bill, he found himself charged with a day's board, he protested vigorously. It was explained to him that the American plan adopted there was based strictly on a day rate, and that if he chose to eat elsewhere it was his own look-out. The man, however, refused to be pacified, and paid the bill under protest. Then, to everyone's surprise, he asked if dinner was still on. He was informed that it lasted until nine in the evening.

"I've eaten one dinner," he exclaimed, "but I'm going to get my money's worth out of this house if I suffer all the torments of dyspepsia!"

He rushed into one of the dining-rooms, seized a bill of fare, and ordered everything he could think of. When he finally reached his limit, the waiter handed him a bill for a good round sum.

"What's that for?" he demanded.

"Your dinner, sir."

"But I have already paid for my dinner in my bill," protested the unfortunate man. "I am staying here on the American plan."

"Then you should have gone into the other dining-room," said the waiter. "This part of the hotel is conducted on the English plan."

Trial is Inexpensive.—To those who suffer from dyspepsia, indigestion, rheumatism or any ailments arising from derangement of the digestive system, a trial of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills is recommended, should the sufferer be unacquainted with them. The trial will be inexpensive and the result will be another customer for this excellent medicine. So effective is their action that many cures can certainly be traced to their use where other pills have proved ineffective.

Individual Effort

This is essentially an age of co-operation, and wisely so, for it is just as true to-day as it ever was that "in union there is strength." But this highly developed spirit of unity, however wise in other respects, has some regrettable features. There is a growing belief that individual effort counts for naught—that it is only through some powerful organization that real results may be obtained. But organizations, at their best, can only work for the betterment of the individual, a function which the individual is highly equipped to perform for himself. In fact, if the world was peopled with a race of perfectly developed individuals, such organizations would not be needed. So here—in self-betterment—we find a field where individual effort finds unlimited opportunities.

Synopsis of Coal Mining Regulations

COAL mining rights in the Dominion of Manitoba and Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories and British Columbia, are leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 and a royalty of 10% on the net proceeds of the coal mined. Not more than 2,500 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the land applied for is situated.

Unsurveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal subdivisions of sections and in surveyed territory the track applied for shall be staked out.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mines shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns, monthly, accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty hereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

The Minister may reserve for an applicant the coal mining rights under 2,500 acres of contiguous lands for two years. Application for such right must be made to the Agent. Fee $100.00. An expenditure at the rate of $1 an acre per annum in prospecting by recognized methods, must be incurred.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY
Deputy Minister of the Interior

Synopsis of Canadian North West Land Regulations

ANY person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister or intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months residence upon and cultivation of land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within five miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre.

Duties.—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn home homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

FAMOUS PEOPLE

BY FANNIE M. LOTHROP

RUDYARD KIPLING

The Greatest Living English Author

A small man, tanned and bronzed to a clear light mahogany, squarely built, with broad shoulders, keen blue eyes, heavy straight eyebrows, a thick dark mustache and square resolute jaw, dressed in clothes that shout defiance to fashion plates—this is Rudyard Kipling. Alive, alert, aggressive and intense, quick in movement, a bit cynical and quizzical, he at first suggests one thoroughly self-satisfied; one who is his own court of appeals.

At Bombay, the most cosmopolitan city of Asia, Kipling was born in Christmas week of 1865. His father was an Englishman, a professor of architectural sculpture in a Bombay college, and when Rudyard was six he was shipped back to England to be educated. At thirteen he entered the United Service College at Westward Ho, under the direction of old Indian officers. The atmosphere was military and Indian, and was doubtless a potent factor in coloring the mind of the boy, who acquired more by unconscious absorption than by direct study. It is true that he carried off the prizes in English literature in a matter-of-fact kind of a way, as if it were his assigned share of the plunder; but otherwise revealed no symptoms of genius.

At seventeen he went to India to work on the "Civil and Military Gazette" at Lahore, where his talent began to be recognized in a half patronizing way by the editor-in-chief. Strange, however, the "Plain Tales from the Hills," which gave him his first European success, and his "Departmental Ditties" were accepted under protest, to humor the boy, rather than for any merit the editors discovered.

A man of supreme individuality, he has the splendid courage of his convictions. He dared to lash England into a fight when the Boer war seemed to him imperative; he scourged the country he loved for her treatment of her soldiers; he inspired those soldiers by his stirring, tingling lines and martial stanzas, while Alfred Austin, the Laureate, was writing pink-lemonade verses guaranteed to offend no one. Then came his magnificent "Recessional"—a new classic added to our literature.

Kipling is the apostle of the strenuous; he loves color and paints it with love; he is thrilled by struggle, by power, by conquest. He shows us the primal instincts and passions, nature unvarnished. He is of the brutality, fearless to the point of frenzy, but always sincere, and when he lets the Oriental in his nature keep him close to the earth, he reveals to the world as no other English writer has ever.

CHAPTER IX.
At The Window

Mrs. Anning was kind and stout and inquisitive, a motherly soul, good at butter-making and fond of talking of nothing at all.

She helped to lay Lily Warren on a horse-hair sofa in her best parlour, and piled her with salts and ammonia until the young girl's face and lips began to assume a more natural tint.

"No need to lose her habit," she observed to Harry, as she noted her visitor's slender form, and contrasted it mentally with her own generous outlines.

"There's nothing of her. Did her horse throw her?"

"No; he was running away with her when I stopped him."

"A friend of yours, sir?"

"Yes."

"You are a stranger here, sir?"

"I came last night."

"I do like strangers," Mrs. Anning said enthusiastically. "Six or seven years ago we had heaps of 'em, and even four or five years back they still came over from Bloxham or Seacombe or Bere Longford, just to look at the inscription in the churchyard, and to stand on the bridge here. You have seen the churchyard, sir?"

"Oh, yes."

"It's a pretty place, is Crayborne; but it was only the murders that brought the people, and now that none of the guide-books speak of them, people have forgotten 'em. Lodgers Abbey grounds used to be shown to visitors two or three times a week; but after poor Mr. Roger's death it was shown no more."

"Did you know Roger Clavel?"

"Of course I did! Why, my husband taught the boy to ride. He was coachman at Lyllyngton Court, and I was maid at Vale House, so it's odd we should have come together, seeing the families didn't speak, even before the crimes. I think the young lady is coming to, now. Is she your sister, your wife, may I ask?"

"The young lady is only a friend of mine," Harry answered.

Then he flushed under his sunburn, for the young lady in question gave proof that she was no longer insensible by suddenly blushing a rosy red. Aware that she had betrayed herself she sat up very straight, and began elaborately thanking everyone for looking after her. In the middle of her polite speech she stopped short, looked hard at Harry and then jumped up from the sofa and clapped her hands.

"It is young Don Quixote!" she exclaimed. "How in the world did you get here?"

Hardly had the words left her lips when she suddenly grew red, and evidently regretted having spoken them. But Harry answered at once in her own vein.

"It is indeed Don Quixote to help Dulcinea," he said.

"Thank you for stopping my horse," she said sedately as she sank back on her sofa. "It is only the second time in my life that I have ridden, or I should have known how to manage him better."

"Would it not be wiser not to ride alone at first?"

"Wiser, yes. But, oh, so stupid! I had a groom with me when I started; but I gave him the slip and was thoroughly enjoying myself, when a motor car frightened my horse, and he went tearing off. I must get back now."

She rose, but became pale and seemed to totter on her feet.

Mrs. Anning threw a plummy arm around her and made her sit down again.

"You've been shaken too much," she observed. "Have a rest now. You mussen mind my leaving you a bit, as those girls are no good without me, and I don't want my butter spoiled."

"I know what is the matter with me," the young girl exclaimed. "I came out before breakfast and I am dreadfully hungry."

"Are you far from home?" asked Harry.

"Every bit of ten miles," she answered dolefully. "I wonder whether I could possibly have anything to eat ing three bottles I noticed a change. My appetite got better, so I kept on, never discouraged. Finally I seemed not to cough so much and the pains in my chest got better and I could rest at night.

"I am well now and cured of a chronic cough and sore throat. I cannot tell you how grateful I am, and I cannot thank Peruna enough. It has cured where doctors have failed and I talk Peruna wherever I go, recommend it to everybody. People who think they have consumption better give it a trial."

here?"

"To be sure you can, if you don't mind plain food," the farmer's wife assured her. "Tea, and eggs and bacon, and I've a few scones you might like. I know they're wholesome, for I made 'em myself, and, though I say it as I shouldn't, I've as light a hand at pastry as most of 'em."

"They very sound of them makes my mouth water. I should be so grateful if you would let me breakfast here."

"And the young gentleman, too, of course," Mrs. Anning said, nodding to Harry benevolently over her shoulder as she left the room.

He had no wish to spend more time than was possible in the ugly modern-vivid red and blue plush-framed photographs of the landlord's German relatives, and German lithographs of Alpine scenery on the walls. Even Mrs. Anning's bad taste had not been able to wholly destroy the picturesqueness of the long low-roofed room in which they were sitting. Some restraining hand must have been laid upon her, for the disfiguring white-wash had been scraped off the great beam which protruded across the ceiling, and the walls had been painted a warm cream color above a deep panelling of oak. Even the horsehair and mahogany "suite" was inoffensive, if uncomfortable; the big round mahogany table in the centre of the room shone brilliantly, and was happily bare of albums, and two spacious mahogany glass-paned cabinets, well-filled with old English china, gave an air of appropriateness to the room, as did the high grandfather's clock in the corner, and the prints of Hogarth's "Rake's Progress" hung upon the walls.

There was a low oak seat before the window, which was hot more than four feet above the glass plot outside. Left alone with Harry, Miss Warren crossed to it, and looked curiously out of the small square panes.

"Isn't it odd that in the country they always keep the windows shut?" she asked. "I have noticed that already. And generally they have enormous pots of plants and flowers in the cottage windows to eat up the good air."

"Don't you find the life wonderfully different in this country village?" he inquired.

She stiffened at once. Different! Different from what? Different from theatrical touring in the United States?

She remained silent for a moment and drummed impatiently upon the window panes with the handle of her riding whip.

"I want you to remember," she said at last, suddenly facing him and speaking impressively, "that you have never met me before."

"As you please."

"Also that my name is Morgan—Miss Lillas Morgan."

"Certainly," Miss Morgan.

She hesitated and looked at him wistfully for a moment.

"You met someone very much like me in New York, I daresay?"

"Not so very much like," he retorted coolly. "But how do you know it was in New York I met her, Miss Morgan?"

She burst out laughing.

"I never can tell lies," she admitted. "It seems hard that I should have to. I am so hungry. Aren't you Mr. Clavelworth?"

"Frightfully. It was clever of you to find out my name simply by looking at me."

"That was stupid of me. But we will suppose you have just told it to me."

"We will suppose anything you like, Miss Morgan."

"Morgan really is my name."

"Why not?"

"I shouldn't like you to think I keep on inventing names."

"After all, what does it matter what I think, since we have never met before?"

"It matters because you have perhaps saved my life, and I am very grateful to you, and I want us to be friends," she said, offering him her hand with a charming smile.

"We are friends," he said, giving her fingers a cordial pressure. "And I always believe just what my friends tell me, and no more."

Mrs. Anning bustled in with the breakfast as he released the hand of Lillas. The farmer's wife decided that they were courting, and was pleased to see it. She placed a big bunch of country garden flowers, rosemary and marigold, honeysuckle, dog-daisies and white monthly roses, before them in a blue and grey jug as she finished setting the table.

"Lady Anne brought that jug from foreign parts. Sometimes she comes and has breakfast or tea here with me and John. And she always asks for this jug filled with flowers on the table. We call it Lady Anne's jug."

"Do you know this Lady Anne?"

Harry asked on the next occasion when he and Miss Warren were alone.

"I have seen her," Lillas replied, after a moment's hesitation. "But I cannot say I know her. Lady Anne must be very difficult to know."

"Why do you say that?" he asked quickly.

"I am afraid of her," Lillas answered in a low voice. "There is something shadowy and tragic about her. She seems to me to have walked straight out of a play of Maeterlinck."

"Is she beautiful?"

"I suppose she is, but her beauty gives me the creeps. It isn't human."

Harry said no more, but he recalled a saying he had heard to the effect that one pretty woman cannot appreciate another. They were as dissimilar as two women could be, this lively girl and the queenly Lady Anne. Harry felt that he could like Lillas amazingly, but he could worship Lady Anne.

Meantime, it was a delightful breakfast. Lillas was a brilliant chatter-box. Harry was an excellent listener. Both were happy and hungry. John Anning, when he presently returned to the farm, was informed by his wife that a young couple were "sweet-heating it in the parlour," and John, who was a big taciturn man, with a square, impressive face, and little, shrewd, light eyes, shrugged his shoulders and opined that it "wasen his business."

Nevertheless, he went into the kitchen when the room was empty, and softly drew back for the space of an inch the buttery hatch window, through which dishes could be handed hot into the parlor. Peeping through the aperture, he took stock of the young man and girl as they laughed and flirted over the teacups and eggs and bacon. He stared far longer and far harder at Harry than at Lillas; but very little about the appearance of either of them had escaped him by the time he closed the little window.

The young couple had not suspected his secret scrutiny; but, as Lillas was on the point of rising from the table, having lingered over the agreeable meal as long as possible, she suddenly changed color. A look of terror flashed into her eyes, and she caught at Harry's arm.

"The window," she whispered.

"That horrible face! Look!"

Clay Pipe Still Here

The clay pipe has not quite departed. It is always to be seen tucked, stem downward, in the strap which the dustman and the coalman use to hitch up the legs of their corduroys—just beneath the knees. The china cigar-holder, however, is not only dead, but forgotten. Lady Dorothy Nevill can recall the monstrosity: "Lord Abergavenny," she notes, "remembers having seen my father-in-law, the Hon. George Nevill, born in 1760, smoking a cigar through a china holder about the most uncomfortable method of smoking possible. These old-fashioned china cigar holders were often elaborately painted." Just the very thing, in fact, for a birthday present to the husband.

There will be no occasion in a short time for Prince Rupert, the Pacific terminus of the G. T. P. to import its supplies of cement from England, Germany or even Victoria as last summer there was discovered near Shames, B. C., which is also on the line of the great Transcontinental Railway, a large deposit of lime stone that is considered perfect for the manufacture of cement. This should prove a powerful stimulus to the building boom in Prince Rupert.

Ready for the Warden

To make sure that the boy was not disobeying the bass fishing law, the game warden took the string of fish out of the water and found only catfish, perch and suckers on the line. A few feet farther down the stream he found a large black bass wiggling on a string weighted down with a stone, and asked the boy what he was doing with the fish.

"Well, you see," answered the boy, "he's been taking my bait all morning, and so I just tied him up there until I got through fishing."

Last year the consumption of coal in this country was 502,000,000 tons in round numbers, in England 300,000,000 tons nearly, and in Germany about 250,000,000 tons.

Nothing Like Leather

For over twelve months now a road made principally of leather has been in use at Handsworth, Birmingham, and shows practically no signs of wear. It is another example of the elimination of that commercial bugbear, "the waste product," for until some ingenious person hit upon the idea of the leather road practically no use had been discovered for the leather waste from which it is made. The waste leather was shredded until it veritably became a pulp. It was then treated with bitumen and tar and laid in the usual way. The road is claimed to have many great advantages. It creates little or no dust, gives considerable wear, is resilient and silent and gives a good grip for motor tires and similar objects. It is a comfortable material for horses to tread on, and the heaviest vehicles that have so far passed over it have made no impression on it.

Scotch Wit

A Scotch woman, whose name was Margaret, did nothing but swear and abuse instead of answering, the minister.

"Ah, Margaret," said he, "dinna ye ken where a' the sinfu' gang?"

"De'll take them that kens as well as them that speers," cried she.

"Ah, Margaret, they gang where there be wailing and gnashing of teeth."

"By my trow, then," said Margaret, "let them gnash that hae them, for de'll a stump hae I had these twenty years."

"My present patient," said the pretty nurse, "is a peevish old millionaire."

"Never mind, he may ask you to marry him."

"Yes he may. He has about run out of other requests."

"Did you know," said a man who was reading about the contraction of metals, "that a clock ticks faster in winter than in summer?"

"No. I never noticed that about a clock. But I know a gas-meter does."

Faint?

Have you weak heart, dizzy feelings, oppressed breathing after meals? ## Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

The heart becomes regular as clock-work. The red blood corpuscles are increased in number—and the nerves in turn are well fed. The arteries are filled with good rich blood. That is why nervous debility, irritability, fainting spells, disappear and are overcome by this alternative extract of medicinal roots put up by Dr. Pierce without the use of alcohol.

Ask your neighbor. Many have been cured of scrofulous conditions, ulcers, "fever-sores," white swellings, etc., by taking Dr. Pierce's Discovery. Just the refreshing and vitalizing tonic needed for excessive tissue waste, in convalescence from fevers or for run-down, anemic, thin-blooded people. Stick to this safe and sane remedy and refuse all "just as good" kinds offered by the dealer who is looking for a larger profit. Nothing will do you half as much good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Don't let repairs
eat up your profits

Whether they represent actual cash outlay, or only the time of yourself and your help, repairs are waste just the same. When you make an improvement—no matter how small its cost may be—let it be permanent. Then it is a real investment, something on which you can realize in cash should you decide to sell your property; and something that will pay you constant dividends in convenience, sightliness and comfort as long as the farm remains your own.

Concrete Improvements Are Permanent

They last as long as the very hills themselves. They do not require experts to build them. Their first cost, in most cases, is no more than for inferior materials.

Aren't you interested in the subject of permanent, modern farm improvements?

Then write for the book that describes hundreds of them—

VISIT OF HALDANE AT INVITATION OF GERMANY

Premier Asquith Says that Visit of Viscount Haldane to Berlin Had Reference to Desire of Both Parties to Reach Amicable Understanding

London, Eng.—The opening of the Parliamentary session which is to deal with Home Rule, Welsh disestablishment and electoral reform, was marked by a statement of Premier Asquith that the visit of Viscount Haldane, secretary of war, to Berlin was made at the invitation of Germany, and that the conversations between the British war minister and the German authorities had reference to a desire on the part of both parties that the existing tension should be relieved.

Interest in this statement completely overshadowed the government's huge legislative programme.

Since Secretary Haldane's visit to Berlin the British people have been prepared for the announcement; that it had to do with Anglo-German relations, but they hardly hoped that the conversations had proceeded as far as the prime minister's guarded speech shows.

His hopeful words, that he believed that the conversations may have more than negative results have caused a sensation here. It is evident that Andrew Bonar Law and Lord Lansdowne, leaders of the Opposition, respectively, hoped the Commons and the House of Lords had been informed of the course of the discussion, for, although they spoke before the premier, Lord Lansdowne assured the Government of Unionist support in any move to secure a better understanding with Germany.

The speeches on domestic affairs dealt only generally with the government's huge legislative programme. Bonar Law in a fighting speech promised to offer stubborn resistance to Home Rule and other measures.

Lord Lansdowne intimated that Home Rule will meet its fate in the House of Lords.

It will, therefore, have to be repassed by the house of commons as provided by the parliament bill.

Only passing reference was made to electoral reform and the possibility of woman's suffrage.

These measures will come in the longer debate on the amendments to the address which are due to be proposed by the opposition and laborites.

The King's speech proved disappointing to both supporters of home rule and woman's suffrage. The Times Telegraph, Dublin, states:

"Scarcely reference to Home Rule in the King's speech disappointed Irish Nationalists who had hoped for a more fervent allusion to this prominent measure of the session. The Nationalists are still more seriously perturbed by the persistent rumor that the bill will not be introduced until after Easter."

To Christobel Pankhurst the King's speech has been still more of a disappointment. The woman's suffrage union will make an impressive demonstration at an early date and every opportunity would be taken for embarrassing the Government. Miss Pankhurst said: "We had hoped for a distinct pronouncement in the King's speech, but we always expect, and are prepared for the worst. Now they have given us the worst and we will fight for a government measure until we win."

HONOR SEAGER WHEELER

Saskatchewan Legislature Unanimously Congratulates Grower of Champion Wheat.

Regina, Sask.—In the local House, on motion of acting Premier Calder, seconded by the Attorney General, it was decided to send to Mr. Seager Wheeler and Dr. Saunders copies of the following resolution, which was passed by a unanimous vote:

"Whereas at the Land Exhibition at the City of New York, United States of America, in November, 1911, a prize of one thousand dollars in gold was offered by Sir Thomas Shaughnessy for the best exhibit comprising one hundred pounds of milling wheat grown on the America continent in the years 1910-11:

"And whereas the said prize was won by Mr. Seager Wheeler of Rosthern Saskatchewan, and the second and third prizes by farmers resident in Alberta and Manitoba respectively:

"And whereas the wheat exhibited by the said Mr. Wheeler was of a variety known as Marquis, originated on the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, by Dr. Charles Saunders, the Dominion Cerealist;

"And whereas the facts recited in the foregoing reflect great credit upon and have resulted in much valuable advertising for Saskatchewan and Canada;

"Therefore be it resolved that this House extends its congratulations to Mr. Seager Wheeler of Rosthern, Saskatchewan, upon his achievement and the honor that he has won for this province, and also to Dr. Charles Saunders of Ottawa upon having originated so valuable a variety of wheat as Marquis gives every promise of becoming."

Mr. Ens of Rosthern, who moved the resolution, had some very congratulatory things to say of his townsman, Seager Wheeler, on his success in capturing the prize for the best wheat in America—which was tantamount to a world victory.

"The farmers of Saskatchewan would have saved millions of dollars," said Mr. Ens, "if they had followed Mr. Wheeler's example in using this early ripening variety of wheat. Mr. Wheeler's exhibit excelled those of his Alberta and Manitoba competitors in its color and uniformity. It is also a noteworthy fact that Mr. Wheeler has, by study and scientific experiment, made this wheat practically frost proof."

Mr. Ens extended a tribute to Dr. Charles Saunders of Ottawa "upon having originated so valuable a variety of wheat as Marquis gives every promise of becoming."

"The winning of this prize by one of our farmers has placed this province in an enviable position on the continent," said Mr. Finlayson, in seconding the resolution. "The fact that Mr. Wheeler's wheat was grown so far north in Saskatchewan would seem to me to justify the government in bending its energies in further agricultural development in the great fertile area that is as yet in its virgin state in the northern part of our province."

Dr. Elliot of Moose Mountain expressed the opinion that Dr. Saunders had done an immense service to Saskatchewan and Canada in originating Marquis, "the first milling wheat in the world." And the House owed a great deal to Mr. Wheeler for the honor that his success had brought to Saskatchewan.

The resolution also received the hearty support of Mr. Garry and Mr. Haultain.

RESTRICTIONS ON CAN. TIMBER

U. S. Government Advises Imposition of Tariff Duty on Pulp and Print Paper

Washington.—The American government has learned of more crown forest lands in Canada upon which restrictions are placed as to the manufacture of their timber, thereby depriving the wood pulp and print paper from these woods of free entry into the United States.

The lands are located in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, within twenty miles on either side of the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and in a tract of 3,500,000 acres in the Peace River district in British Columbia. Licenses on the land provide that all timber cut from them must be manufactured in Canada.

The treasury advised the collectors of customs, and the state department advised consular officials that this was restriction which warranted the imposition of the tariff duty on the wood pulp and print paper made from these woods.

VIEW PANAMA CONSTRUCTION

Hon. Clifford Sifton Among Party Sailing From New York

New York.—Distinguished public officials of both the United States and Canada are included among the passengers who sailed for Panama to view the progress of construction on the Isthmian Canal.

Two members of President Taft's cabinet, Secretary of the Interior Fisher and Postmaster-General Hitchcock, were among those in the party. Canada was represented by Hon. Clifford Sifton, former minister of the interior and for many years a leading figure in public life in the Dominion.

Manitoba House Feb. 22.

Winnipeg, Man.—The second session of the thirteenth Legislature of the province of Manitoba has been called for Thursday, Feb. 22.

SIR EDWARD GREY HONORED

British Foreign Minister is Created Knight of the Garter

London, Eng.—The King has created Sir Edward Grey, Secretary of State for foreign affairs, as Knight of the Garter.

This distinction is limited to members of Royal families and a few of the highest among nobility.

It has been conferred upon Sir Edward Grey undoubtedly at the Premier's suggestion and is construed as the government's answer to the attacks, particularly on the part of Liberals, on Sir Edward Grey's foreign policy.

The "Daily Graphic" suggests that Mr. Asquith is about to resign the Premiership and that he will be succeeded by Sir Edward Grey.

It further suggests that Secretary Haldane's mission to Berlin was to explain that, although Sir Edward Grey has been credited with an anti-German policy, his accession to the premiership would not interfere with Great Britain's desire for an entente with Germany.

As evidence confirming its idea, the Daily Graphic points out that Premier Asquith's private secretary, Vaughan Nash, has recently been appointed to another position under the Government and that no successor has been nominated, making it difficult, adds the Graphic, to avoid the conclusion that Mr. Asquith no longer requires a secretary.

The Times says:

"The foreign secretary, Sir Edward Grey, who has been made a Knight of the Garter, is the only commoner to receive such an honor since Horace Walpole. The order, excluding foreign sovereigns and princes of the blood royal, consists of the sovereigns and twenty-five knights. Sir Edward takes the place left vacant in the order through the untimely death of the Duke of Fife."

"The only two other precedents of a commoner receiving the order are the cases of Edward Montague, who was made a Knight of the Garter before he was created Earl of Sandwich in 1660, and of Sir George Villiers, afterwards Duke of Buckingham, who was created a Knight of the Garter in 1616."

"The King's gift to Sir Edward Grey is interpreted as a signal testimonial of His Majesty's confidence in the foreign secretary and obtains particular significance in view of Lord Haldane's visit to Germany."

"The war secretary is now back in England and gave a report of his trip at a cabinet council recently held. No official information as to the nature of his mission is as yet forthcoming, but it is expected that reference will be made to it in the speech from the throne at the opening of Parliament or that a statement will be made from the treasury bench in the course of the debate on the address in reply to the King's address."

MAKING BIG EXHIBIT

United States to Spend $10,000 at Dry Farming Congress

Calgary, Alta.—F. W. Mondell, Washington congressman, in the interests of the international dry farming congress to be held at Lethbridge, October 21 to 26 next, has passed a bill through the committees of agriculture and appropriations approved by President Taft and Secretary of Agriculture Wilson for $10,000 as a grant from the United States Government toward an exhibit at the Lethbridge dry farming congress. The exhibit will be collected from 33 federal experimental stations under the direction of the department of agriculture, and will probably require a special building to be erected in which to exhibit it.

STRATHCONA GENEROUS

Gives Order for $7,000 Fishing Lodge For Duke of Connaught

Montreal.—Lord Strathcona has again shown his good will for Canada by giving an order for the building of a $7,000 fishing lodge, to be placed at the disposal of H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught.

The order was given to Messrs Marchand and Haskell, Montreal, to prepare plans, and these have been accepted.

The lodge will be built on an island in Seven Mile Pool, Tobique River, New Brunswick.

TAFT IS DEFIANT AND CERTAIN

Going to Beat Democrats in November, He Tells New York

New York.—President Taft brought the celebration of Lincoln's birthday to a close here with a political speech to the Republican Club in which he breathed defiance to the Democratic party, and declared that it was his belief that the Republicans would triumph next November at the polls and made it plain that he had little sympathy with those of his own political faith who call themselves progressives, but who are "political emotionalists or neurotics."

Duluth Man to Farm Immense Acreage

Duluth, Minn.—Sanford F. McLeod, retiring purchasing agent for the Duluth, Missabe and Northern Railroad, Duluth, intends to start an immense grain farm in Saskatchewan. Four thousand acres will be sown to flax this spring, and by next year over 7,000 acres are to be sown to grain. Day and night shifts will be employed. Five traction engines and gang plows will work twenty hours a day, with two ten-hour shifts. A pulverizer will follow the tractors and the seeders will follow the pulverizer. The breaking will occupy 27 days and the seeding 8.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON VIII—FIRST QUARTER, FOR FEB. 25, 1912.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. iv, 1-11. Mark i, 9-11—Memory Verses, Matt. iv, 3, 4—Golden Text, Heb. ii, 18. Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The record of the baptism is found in Matthew, Mark and Luke, but most fully in Matthew. In Luke iii, 23, we read that Jesus began to be about thirty years of age, and we cannot but wonder at the lowly and submissive life of all those thirty years at Nazareth. How can we ever murmur at limitations and humiliations in our lives as we think of this life lived for us? He came from Nazareth, where he had been brought up (Luke iv, 16), and after His return to heaven He called Himself "Jesus of Nazareth" (Acts xii, 8), yet Nathanael said, "Can there any good come out of Nazareth?" after acknowledging that out of Nazareth came "the Son of God, the King of Israel" (John i, 46, 49). He came to Jordan, river of judgment, yet there was nothing in Him to be judged. Others were baptized of John, confessing their sins, but He had no sins to confess. We do not wonder that John said to Him, "I have need to baptize of Thee, and comest Thou to me?" But our Lord's "Suffer it to be so now" has helped many a humble follower to submit to seemingly unnecessary things that the righteousness of God might be seen in them and others won to Him. This and that other saying, "About My Father's business," His two first recorded utterances, are good for all of us in our daily life. As he came up out of the water something happened from the skies—the heavens were opened, and the Father testified, "Thou art My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased." At the same time the Spirit of God descended in bodily shape like a dove upon Him. The Father had told John that it would be so, and John bare record that He was the Son of God (John i, 33, 34). The one who sent John also testified that the one on whom the Spirit would descend and remain would Himself baptize with the Holy Spirit. Then what hinders us thus to be baptized? Luke tells us that Jesus was praying when the heavens were opened. He seems to have prayed always and about everything and sometimes all night. He fasted too. Is that where we fail? Consider the other six places where we read of the heavens being opened and always see Himself. Consider well every place where, as here, the Father, Son and Holy Spirit are seen or mentioned, as in Matt. xxviii, 19; II Cor. xiii, 14; Heb. ix, 14. See John xiv, 17, 23, how the Spirit and the Father and the Son make the bodies of believers their abode or mansion and to their "Whom shall I send, and who will go for us?" Let us gladly answer, "Here I am I; send me," remembering His words, "As My Father hath sent Me, even so send I you" (Isa. vi, 8; John xx, 21).

When Spirit filled we may then expect to be specially attacked by the devil. As our representative He was led by the Spirit into the wilderness to be tempted of the devil. Both Mark and Luke say that He was forty days tempted of the devil. Matthew and Luke say that He fasted forty days and forty nights; that He did eat nothing. This did Moses on two occasions and Elijah once, and these three we find on the Mount of Transfiguration, and we hear them speak of the devil's most awful piece of work, the death of Jesus. He is the fearful adversary of God and man and has been at work as such ever since he deceived and conquered Adam and Eve, and he will not cease until he shall be shut up in the pit for 1,000 years. As the devil tempted Eve on the life of the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes and the pride of life (I John ii, 16) and won the day, so he tempted the Lord Jesus but was defeated. Eve had everything that the Lord saw that she needed, yet she ate the forbidden fruit. The Lord Jesus, having fasted forty days and being hungry, yet overcame by the words, "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word of God" (Luke iv, 4). The devil's ambition to be as God conquered Eve (Isa. xiv, 14; Gen. iii, 5), but the Lord Jesus conquered by the words, "Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God." Adam and Eve had been given dominion over all things (Gen. i, 26-28), but they lost it by giving heed to this great enemy, and he has ever since been the god of this world (II Cor. iv, 4). The Lord Jesus, the last Adam, knew that some day He would restore the dominion to man, and the kingdoms of the world will be His kingdom (Rev. xi, 15). So He could say to the great adversary, "Get thee hence, Satan." It is written, "Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God and Him only shalt thou serve." We read in Luke that "when the devil had ended all the temptation he departed from Him for a season," and Matthew and Mark tell us that "angels came and ministered unto Him." We must remember that the same great adversary is still going about seeking whom he may devour. But with the armor provided for us and by the sword and the blood of the Lamb we, too, may be overcomers, seeking nothing for ourselves, walking humbly with our God and worthy of the kingdom and glory to which we are called (Eph. vi; Rev. xii, 11). If we resist the devil he will flee from us, for God is with us.

Taft Calls Them Extremists

New York.—President Taft says his opponents are not progressives, but extremists who would bring conditions of the French revolution.

NEW CHINESE REPUBLIC

German Imperial Premier Writes Dr. Sun Offering Co-Operation

Nanking, China.—President Sun Yat Sen has received a long telegram from Yuan Shi Kai couched in most friendly terms, acknowledging and honoring the new Republic, the president and ministers of the Nanking government. He relinquishes China into their hands, greeting them as brothers, expressing the hope that the future of the country will be prosperous and offering his co-operation.

There is every reason to believe that Nanking will be the capital of the Republic.

Tang Sha Yi said recently: "The edict is perfectly clear and satisfactory and the abdication of the throne is absolute. I am now a plain citizen of China and have no connection with politics."

The proposed Republican constitution consists of seventy articles. It follows the French model. The president and vice-president will be elected by congress, which will also name the premier, the latter selecting his cabinet subject to the approval of the congress.

It will establish religious freedom and provide for conscription.

The text of the Imperial edict issued by the throne is as follows:

"We, the Emperor of China, have respectfully received the following edict from the hands of Her Majesty, the Dowager Empress:

"In consequence of the uprising of the Republican army to which the people of the provinces of China have responded, the Empire is seething like a boiling cauldron and the people are plunged in misery.

"Yuan Shi Kai was therefore commanded to despatch commissioners in order to confer with the Republicans with a view to calling of a national assembly to decide the future form of government.

"Months have elapsed and no settlement is now evident. The majority of the people are in favor of a Republic. From the presence of the peoples' hearts the will of Heaven is discernible. How could we oppose the desire of millions for the glory of one family?

"Therefore, we, the Dowager Empress and the Emperor hereby vest the sovereignty of the Chinese Empire in the people.

"Let Yuan Shi Kai organize to the full the powers of the provisional Republican government and confer with the Republicans as to the methods of assuring of peace in the Empire and in forming a great Republic with the union of Manchus, Chinese, Mohammedans and Tibetans.

"We, the Empress Dowager and the Emperor, will thus be enabled to live in retirement from the responsibilities and cares and enjoying without interruption the nation's courteous treatment."

* AGRICULTURE EDUCATION

Plan to Teach Boys and Girls Attending Rural Schools Farming

Ottawa, Ont.—A plan for extending agricultural education to the boys and girls attending rural schools, was unfolded at the conclusion of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association Convention.

The speaker was Professor W. Simpson, of Massachusetts who delivered a paper on "Vocational Agriculture Education for Boys and Girls." He dealt with his subject in an exceedingly interesting way, and it was proposed by the meeting to publish the lecture in pamphlet form and distribute it through the rural localities of the country.

CADET TRAINING

Companies Will be Formed at Schools—Winnipeg's Offer

Ottawa, Ont.—Col. Sam Hughes has worked out many of the details for this summer's cadet training. The lads are to be given six days in camp under conditions carefully designed to safeguard their physical and moral well-being.

The basis of organization will be the school. Lads from a group of schools in a township or town will be formed into a company, and the companies will be combined as county regiments.

The camps will be regimental ones. The boys will be trained in their own counties, in carefully selected sites. An example of the progress made is furnished by Petrolia, which has offered two excellent camp areas, the matter of drinking water being especially guarded. Winnipeg has offered a site, though the matter of water supply has not been arranged.

The militia department is inviting help in managing the camps from male teachers, school inspectors, clergymen and militia officers. School inspectors and teachers will be asked to furnish names of suitable persons for instructors.

The cadets and instructors, clergymen, etc., accompanying them will be transported, clothed and fed free. No pay, however, will be given.

No liquor or tobacco is to be allowed.

A feature of the training will be rifle practice with miniature rifles.

SALE OF PATENT MEDICINES

Minister of Inland Revenue Will Enforce Law Regarding Registration More Strictly

Ottawa, Ont.—Hon. Brunel Nantel, minister of inland revenue, decided to introduce a very important amendment to the pure food act this session. Amendments will be particularly directed towards the sale of patent medicines.

At present the Canadian law is not nearly as stringent as the American. As a result many patent medicines which are now debarred in the United States are being widely advertised and sold in Canada. It is understood the registry of preparations will be more strictly enforced. At present a dollar is supposed to be paid the department for every preparation registered.

Some firms, it is said, have been in the habit of paying one dollar to cover all preparations.

The minister has discovered one dollar for twelve hundred preparations.

Thereas some sixty thousand preparations are on the market and not more than a fifth is registered.

The minister also decided on strict enforcement of the present law on statute books.

First Stages in Dairying

Catherine Campbell

Agriculture is the chief industry of the world. Agriculture is also the sustenance of the world. Dairying is one of the chief branches of Agriculture. There is great demand for dairy products as a food.

In dairying it is very essential to select a good dairying cow. A healthy cow gives the best dairying results. A diseased cow such as a cow having tuberculosis may often cause many deaths. There are some people who are very unscrupulous and keep a sickly cow.

A good farmer will always look for a cow with a good disposition; never get a rough or cross cow. A kind and gentle cow is better for dairying purposes. If you are kind to your cow she will in turn be kind to you. A nervous cow is not a cross cow; a cow although nervous may always be the better milch cow. For instance the Ayrshire is more nervous than the Hereford and the Jersey is more nervous than the Shorthorn.

The cow does not necessarily require an expensive stable. A warm clean and well ventilated stable is more efficient. All the dust should be kept out of the stable also be white washed at least twice a year, as the lime is ruinous to all germs and Bacteria. It is most important to keep the stable clean and free from dust.

It is very essential to keep the following chart on hand: Cleanliness. White wash twice a year. Feed after milking, get light sunlight in stable, keep out the dust germs or bacteria, clip off all hairs on the udder and flanks, clean and brush cows after milking, discard first jets of milk.

We white wash the stable because the lime is destructive to germs. It is best to feed after milking so as not to raise dust in the stable because the dust falling into the milk forms Bacteria, which is injurious for both people and calves.

The sun light purifies the air in the stable. If the dust is not kept out it will make germs or Bacteria.

It is also important to clip off the hairs which are unnecessary on the udder and flanks as they hold dust.

It is best to clean and brush the cows after milking so as not to have any unnecessary dust flying around when milking. There is always dust on the udder therefore it is best to discard the first jets of milk.

Never go after the cows with a horse and a cross dog, but go for them gently. If they are roughly brought in the quality of the milk is never so rich. Many people believe that by feeding the cows oil cake and barley meal etc. increases the butter fat. This does not increase the fat but it increases the quantity.

Very great care should be taken to correctly cleanse the milk utensils. The utensils should be carefully washed then scalded and aired. If the utensils are not scalded the germs will not be killed. If you do not air the utensils there will be a close hot smell off them.

When milking always wash your hands first. Every milker should have a special milking suit. Never dampen your hands when milking as you never know how much milk you have on your hands and it may be continually dripping in your milking pail. Some men after after working at their chores all day go to milk and then spit on their hands. Always milk as quickly as possible and regular.

Many people only wash their separator once a day. Never do this because the separator will not be clean after standing over night. If you do not wish to wash your separator twice a day then keep your milk over. If the milk will not separate well when cold set it on the stove to warm. It does not matter how hot it becomes but do not let it boil.

Milk consists principally of water as the following table shows.

Total ingredients of milk 100 p. c.
Water	87.17 "
Fat	3.69 "
Casein	3.02 "
Albumin	.53 "
Sugar	4.88 "
Ash	.71 "

Milk sours much more quickly than cream. The reason being there is more water in milk. When the milk is separated the water is mostly taken out. Never let cream get warm till six or eight hours before churning. The sugar in milk gets warm and breaks down and forms Lactic Acid.

Milk is a finished product. Therefore it should be kept in clean surroundings. In large cities families buy only sterilized or pasteurized milk. The following table shows the necessity of cooling milk:—

At 98° 1 Bacterium breeds	75000
At 70 " " " "	750
At 50 " " " "	5
At 32 " " " "	0

If milk is heated to 110° the germs will begin to be destroyed. Milk is usually heated to 180° and cooled as quickly as possible.

A person attending the sick should not attend to milk, because contaminated milk will often give contagious diseases such as typhoid etc. These diseases all come from impure contaminated milk as they are not subject to cows.

Bacteria seem to divide into two every 30 minutes at a temperature of 98 degrees hence if a person drinks impure milk the body being 98 degrees is a very good breeding place for Bacteria.

Dairying in its First Stages

Mabel Campbell

Third Prize

Dairying is one of the most important branches of agriculture. Dairying also belongs to agriculture. The world could not exist so well if it were not for dairying because everybody wants "butter on their bread and also cream on their porridge. Dairying has a delicacy that is not known in any other part of Agriculture. Great care should be taken in the handling of the milk because dust is easily made fall into the milk and thus cause the milk to be impure.

There is a great demand for good butter therefore good butter should be the object of your ambition. The first thing is to have healthy cow, and one of a good disposition as cows generally are.

You should have a warm stable and it should be well ventilated. It is not necessary that you should have an expensive stable but it should be well lighted and clean. It is very necessary that it should be white washed twice a year because there is nothing better than lime for taking the mold off the wall.

If you want the production of sanitary milk you must white wash twice a year, feed after milking, get light in the stable, keep out the dust, germs or bacteria, clip off all hairs on the udder and flanks, clean and brush cows after milking and discard first jets of milk.

The reason for feeding the cows after milking is done to prevent the dust from getting into the milk. The hairs should be clipped off the udder and flanks because when the hairs are long germs and filth will be among them. When milking you should discard first jets of milk because germs are sure to be found at the very end of the tits.

Different milkers should be avoided if possible because the cow is very sensitive. Milking regularly is another great thing; the milk

SORES FROM ELBOWS TO FINGERS

Zam-Buk Worked a Miracle of Healing.

Reverend Gentleman Fully Corroborates

Miss Kate L. Dolliver, of Caledonia, Queens Co., N. S., says: "I must add my testimony to the value of Zam-Buk. Ulcers and sores broke out on my arm, and although I tried to heal them by using various preparations, nothing seemed to do me any good. The sores spread until from fingers to elbow was one mass of ulceration."

"I had five different doctors, and faithfully carried out their instructions. I drank pint after pint of blood medicines, tried salve after salve, and lotion after lotion; but it was of no avail."

"My father then took me thirty miles to see a well-known doctor. He photographed the arm and hand. This photograph was sent to a New York hospital to the specialist; but they sent word they could do nothing further for me, and I was in despair."

"One day a friend asked me if I had tried Zam-Buk. I said I had not, but I got a box right away. That first box did me more good than all the medicine I had tried up to that time, so I continued the treatment. Every box healed the sores more and more until, to make a long story short, Zam-Buk healed all the sores completely. Everybody in this place knows of my case and that it is Zam-Buk alone which cured me."

Minister corroborates.—The Rev. W. B. M. Parker, of Caledonia, Miss Dolliver's minister, writes: "This is to certify that the testimonial of Miss Dolliver is correct as far as my knowledge goes. I have known her for a year and a half, and her cure effected by Zam-Buk is remarkable."

Wherever there is ulceration, blood-poison, sores, cold-cracks, abscesses, cuts, burns, bruises, or any skin injury or disease, there Zam-Buk should be applied. It is also a sure cure for piles. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. per box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Beware cheap and harmful imitations and substitutes.

Jane Austen's Sailor Brother

The House of Commons has declined to abolish prize money, and, indeed, when one remembers the great people who have enjoyed and been encouraged by it, one is not sorry. Jane Austen's sailor brothers were awarded for their valor in this way. Charles Austen was lieutenant of the Endymion, under Captain Philip Durham, in 1800.

On the occasion of the capture of the Scipio the encounter took place in a violent gale; but in spite of wind and weather he put off in a boat with only four men, and boarded the vessel. Jane Austen writes to tell her sister Cassandra how he spent his prize money.

"Charles has received £30 for his share of the privateer, and expects £10 more; but of what avail is it to take prizes if he lays out the produce in presents for his sisters? He has been buying gold chains and topaz crosses for us. He must be well scolded. I shall write again by this post to thank and reproach him. We shall be unbearably fine."

The Fool and His Money.

The money that was so recklessly squandered by the young man of whom we read much in the newspapers, a member of "the idle rich" was never worked for by him. It was never earned, never accumulated nor really appreciated. Its new owner, to whom it was bequeathed, whether unexpectedly, or after long and impatient waiting, had never watched it growing; he had never planted the seed, nor tilled the soil of which he wastes the harvest. Perhaps this is why we accept it as a truth that "the fool and his money are soon parted." But we hug to ourselves the comforting belief that the conditions could never affect us in the same way.

Brought Down His Man

Hon. Martin Burrell was explaining, at the live stock men's dinner in Toronto how hard it was for a politician to please everybody. "I mustn't say too much in praise of the horsemen," he said, "or the cattle men will be offended."

You may have heard the story of the Englishman and the Frenchman who were to fight a duel in a pitch-dark chamber, firing their pistols at a word of command. The Englishman being courageous and tender-hearted, didn't wish to kill his opponent, so, having previously located the chimney, when the word was given he fired up the flue—and brought down the Frenchman.

"Now, remember, if you ever have to tell this story in France, be sure to make it the Englishman who drops out of the chimney."

Why he Was Lucky

When the man who had been hit by the automobile at last opened his eyes a sigh of relief went up from the crowd.

"It's a wonder you weren't killed," said one of the bystanders. "You're luckier than most of the fellows who get hit."

"I certainly am," replied the victim, rubbing his bruises. "I got his number just before he struck me."

THE POWER THAT DRIVES THE HUMAN FACTORY

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Help the Blood and Make You Well

The human body is the busiest factory in the world. There is no eight hours day, no slack season, no holidays, no cessation of labor at any time. Day and night work is being carried on in the workshop of your body, and it never ceases until the engine—the heart—stops forever.

The factory of your body has its motive power, without which it would have to close down at once. That motive power is the blood, healthy, rich, red blood which keeps your whole system efficient and which drives away all diseases that may attack it.

Good, red blood is the chief controller of every action: the source of all the energy you possess. It builds up every substance of your muscles, nerves, sinews and flesh. It removes the waste and poisonous products constantly created in your body, which, if allowed to remain set up disease and weakness of every kind. Good blood gives energy and vitality to the nervous system, besides regulating the function of the stomach, intestines, liver, kidneys and other organs of the body. Briefly, on the purity and richness of your blood the health of your whole body depends.

Often the blood begins to fail and becomes thin and poor in quality. It becomes loaded with waste matter and charged with poisons. Then it is that the motive power of your bodily workshop goes wrong, your physical machinery becomes disorganized and you fall ill. You become anemic; maybe the nerves break down, or you begin to suffer from indigestion, neuralgia, general debility, severe headaches, pains in the back or side, rheumatism, or even paralysis.

In all failures of the blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the best known remedy. These pills actually make new, rich blood, which brings health and energy to every part of the body. Thousands and thousands of people, not only in Canada, but all over the world, testify to the truth of this statement. The following is a bit of proof. Mrs. Fred Stricker, Jr., Moosefield, Ont., says: "A few years ago I was a physical and nervous wreck; I had pains throughout my whole body. I had no appetite and my stomach-felt as if there was a big lump in it. The least exertion would make my heart beat violently, and I would be attacked with trembling spells, and such a weakness that my breath would come in gasps. I was under a doctor's care for nearly two months, but got very little relief. I then tried other remedies, but with no better results. Finally I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and this was the first medicine that reached the root of my trouble. After taking the pills a few weeks I was much better, and by the time I had taken ten boxes I was entirely recovered. I now always keep the pills in the house and if I feel the least worn out take an occasional box and feel all right again."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Out of 750 samples of milk examined in London during three months 106 were pronounced tuberculosis. To find the source of infection 8,750 cows had to be examined. They were located on 102 farms scattered all over the country.

CANNIBAL ETIQUETTE

Scotsman's Twenty-Two Years in Central Africa

Mr. Daniel Crawford, who recently returned from the wilds of British Central Africa to his native town of Greenock, at a public lecture narrated some of his experiences during the twenty-two years that he dwelt with cannibals in the centre of the dark continent.

Speaking of the cannibalistic traits of the natives he said he knew the postal address of a man who had several bodies buried. Before he feasted off one he would murmur a prayer and an apology, "O corpse, I have rescued you from the cold, clammy soil and I am now going to give you the honor of a human interment." One of his "boys" accidentally shot his father, and as it is a cannibal point of etiquette that one may not eat one's own father, he passed the body along to several of his friends.

Once a cannibal chief whom he was seeking to improve asked what happened when there had been a battle between 10,000 white men, and when told that they were all decently buried, exclaimed, "Oh, look at the waste! the white man kills for murder only, but the black man kills to live."

The cheapness of Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator puts it within reach of all, and it can be got at any druggists.

An Ancient Instance
Methuselah just turned forty-six, Wentworth to hunt a job. But everywhere they told him "Nix! You're a year too old, you slob!" "Too old!" he echoed, with rancorous roar.
"You'd better Oslerize me, quite? You dubs, I'll live nine centuries more!"

And so he did—for spite. To be rigidly exact he should have said "93 years more," but he could not have done so without interfering with the rhythmic necessities of this effect. Don't lay it up against him.

Minards Liniment for sale everywhere.

The first boat to dock at the New Grand Trunk wharves at Vancouver is the Canadian-Mexican liner "Beckenham" which arrived via Victoria from Santa Cruz.

A Drawback
"It is really an odd thing that counterfeiters are never caught."
"Why so?"
"Because the detectives are so often on the trail of a false cent."

We often pardon those who weary us, but we cannot pardon those whom we weary.

ers should also wear clean clothes when they go to milk. Milking utensils after being washed should be scalded and set out to air. Scalding kills all the germs that stay hidden in the cracks of the pails.

Milk is composed of the following:

Water	87.17
Fat	3.69
Casein	3.02
Albumin	.53
Sugar	4.88
Ash	.71

When you go after your cows you should not take a wild horse and a cross dog but if it is not too far walk gently up to the cow and let her walk home not race home. If it happens to be too far to walk take a quiet horse.

The best milking cows are more or less nervous. The Ayrshire cow is more nervous than the Hereford and the Jersey is more nervous than the Shorthorn.

It is not necessary to give cows chop and oil cake so that their milk will produce more fat, cows that feed on the straw stack have just as good milk but will not produce the quantity that they would with good feed.

Another great thing in milking is that you should not wet your hands in the milk and then wet the tits with it because the tits will be dirty and the milk and dirt mixed will fall off your hands into the milk. There is a certain amount of sugar in the milk and this sugar breaks down and forms lactic acid. Sterilized milk is the best kind to use because it is pure.

Cream should be stirred often and kept cool until six or eight hours before churning.

Each Bacterium keeps on multiplying by dividing in two. This occurs every thirty minutes at a temperature of 98 degrees and is called growth by fission. Cream contains a good deal of fat therefore when you use the separator you should always wash it. If your separator does not take the milk cold there is no danger of warming it too much as long as you do not boil it. Separator should be kept in a room where you would not mind living yourself. When cooling your cream you should put it in a clean can and set that can into a larger can and put water in the larger can and keep the cream stirred often. In winter keep it covered well to keep it from freezing. In the summer keep it covered to keep out the dust. Less than 25 minutes is too short a time for churning three quarters of an hour is about the right time.

Dairying in its First Stages

Brine Howard
Second Prize

On Friday the 23rd inst. Mr. Hunter gave a very interesting as well as instructive lecture on Dairying in its first stages.

Agriculture is the sustenance of the world therefore dairying must be of great importance as it is a branch of Agriculture.

Now if we were going to start a dairy we would have to buy some cows and if we were going to make a success of it we have to buy good healthy cows as cows with diseases such as tuberculosis would contaminate the milk.

If a cow is nervous it is not to say that she will not be a good milker for some of the best milking breeds are very nervous, for instance the Ayrshire is more nervous than the Hereford and the Jersey is more nervous than the Shorthorn.

There is a great deal of difference between a nervous cow and an ugly tempered cow. A nervous cow might kick if she was frightened but an ugly cow would kick whether she had occasion to or not. The stabling is also an important factor in dairying and we must make it sanitary and have plenty of sunlight with good ventilation.

Now for the production of Sanitary milk we must be very careful as a little carelessness on the part of the milker may cause a death.

To have sanitary milk we must do the following:

White wash the stable twice a year as lime is the best destroyer of mold, feed after milking as the dust from the feed contains a germ called Bacteria which would settle on the milk and contaminate it. Get sunlight in the stable and have good ventilation to keep out the dust as it contains bacteria; clip off all the long hairs around the flanks and udder as it also may harbor germs; clean and brush the cows after milking for the same reason and you should discard the first jets of milk so that any germs that get at the end of the teat would be thrown away.

We should handle our cattle very gently for a cow that is handled roughly will not give as rich milk as one that is used quietly. The utensils should be kept clean and scalded after they are washed so as to kill all germs that happen to be in them and they should be left uncovered in the open air to make them smell sweet.

The milker should wash his hand before starting to milk and not wet them; some people have the dirty habit of dipping their hands into the milk, milking a few minutes and repeating the action. The same milker should milk each time and as regularly as possible.

Milk is composed of the following ingredients:

Water	87.17
Fat	3.69
Casein	3.02
Albumin	.53
Sugar	4.88
Ash	.71

The sugar in the milk forms lactic acid which with the aid of the casein and the water turns into a weak acid. This is what sours the milk.

Before milk is sold it should be sterilized or pasteurized. To pasteurize milk it has to be heated to a temperature of 180 degrees F. and then cooled quickly this kills any germs that happen to be in the milk.

The germs called bacteria are so tiny that millions could be on the point of a pencil, they increase very quickly by fission one of the bacteria splits into two every half hour. At 98 degrees 1 bacterium will increase 75000 in 24 hours. At 70 they increase to 5 " 50 " " " 5 " 42 " " " 0

Now we can see very plainly how dangerous it is to have bacteria in the milk for if one bacteria gets into the human body in 24 hours there would be seventy five thousand and in it as 98 degrees is the heat of the body. We can also see the importance of keeping the milk cool for if a bacteria did happen to get in it would not multiply.

Cream should be kept cool up to six or eight hours before churning then set the cream can in another dish and pour warm water around to ripen it. If a person sends their cream to the factory they should keep the cream cool but never freeze it as frozen milk gives the butter maker much trouble. In warm weather it should be covered to keep the dust out and in cool weather it should be covered to keep from freezing.
